Perhaps one of the saddest words for us in the English language is disappointment. This one word can cause us so much hurt, frustration, even resentment. When we disappoint someone for whom we care, we feel sorrow, frustration, sadness, a sense of failure. For those whom we disappoint they feel many of the same emotions including a breaking of trust. Remember when Peter denied Christ 3 times and the sickening sorrow he felt? Even though Christ knew this would happen it still caused pain. For a believer our life is based on the love of God and when we break that there is pain of some sort. What do you do when disappointment comes? Do you take those hurts and frustrations to God? Think back to Peter, it was at the Sea Of Galilee that Jesus questions Peter 3 times and tells Peter to go about the work of the Kingdom. It was in this dialogue that Peter also experienced the refreshment of forgiveness. God is never too busy to deal with our lives, seek first the Kingdom of God. In living our lives as believers we must seek in each and every situation. We must not decide for God which problems are His to solve.

Do not lose the courage you had in the past, which has a great reward. You must hold on, so you can do what God wants and receive what He has promised. Hebrews 10:15-16

Together we journey sharing in joys and sorrows and knowing all the while our God loves and cares for us. That is why when we gather as a body we are exuberantly Singing His Praises!

Preach the Word, Teach the Body, Reach the World

Along the way over the last year I slowly began to find a comfort zone...but not a good one. I was going through a routine that was really just about surviving. I was doing the Christian Checklist of things you are suppose to do but not really anything more than that. The past few months some things within my life have made a change. Even within my life at home I was fulfilling the dad and husband checklist of what is expected but that was about it. From anyone on the outside you wouldn't have noticed anything even being wrong. Then 2 months ago things changed. Lisa and I realized we didn't like what that attitude was producing around us and we wanted something different. We wanted more than just surviving in our walk with Christ and in our marriage.

We have began doing things that we used to do spiritually and within our relationship that we have not done in a long time and some of these things we had never done. We have begun praying together before bed for each other, our kids, our church family and for people in our lives. We have started discussing our daily bible reading and devotionals with each other each night. We also have been holding hands and making sure that our affection for each other is us pursing each other and not just out of habit or requirement. We are making sure that our relationship with Jesus and each other is on purpose and with purpose not just survival.

John 10:10 tells us that "The thief comes only to steal and kill and destroy. I came that they may have life and have it abundantly" God wants us to not just to survive by doing the daily "checklist" he wants us to have life abundantly. He doesn't just want us to have a good life but the best life. Begin today to live your life on purpose in what you do.
